INDEPENDENT SPENDING IN LEGISLATIVE RACES ALREADY AT NEW HIGH; SPENDING IN THIRD LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT IS TWICE PREVIOUS RECORD

Driven largely by the most expensive legislative election in state history in the 3rd district, spending by independent special interest committees already has eclipsed previous records with the November 7 election still looming, according to reports filed with the New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission (ELEC).

Including the primary, there already has been $18 million in independent spending on the 2017 legislative elections. That preliminary total represents a 12 percent increase over the previous high of $16.1 million expended on the 2013 legislative election. The 2013 total is final.

2015	$ 924,723	$10,724,287	$11,649,010	Assembly
2017*	$2,160,923	$15,875,509	$18,018,432	Senate, Assembly

*Preliminary

“This level of independent spending in legislative elections is unprecedented. These groups are smashing previous spending records by leaps and bounds,” said Jeff Brindle, ELEC’s Executive Director.

“We hope the Legislature this fall recognizes the dominant influence of these groups acting independently of parties and candidates. Hopefully, they will enact legislation ELEC has recommended that would require full disclosure by independent spenders,” Brindle said.

Reports that reflect campaign finance activity through October 27, which is 11 days before the general election, show legislative candidates have raised $36.9 million, spent $22.8 million, and report $14.1 million in cash reserves headed into the campaign’s final days. Overall spending to date in the general election, including independent committees, is $38.6 million.

Independent Committees	NA	$15,857,509	NA
TOTAL		$38,627,600

Independent special interest committees have been a major force in legislative races since 2011. But their involvement in previous races does not compare to what is happening this year in the 3rd district. Independent groups alone have spent about $12.6 million in that race- more than they spent in all 40 legislative districts in 2015. About 65 percent of all independent spending this year is focused on the 3rd district.

Also gave $25,000 to Senate Republican Majority

While the campaign in the 3rd legislative district has drawn the heaviest spending, four other districts that have been targeted by both parties in recent elections also are among the top five most expensive contests. Independent spending totals have been lowered in some districts due to downward revisions in General Majority PAC spending.

Table 5
Five Legislative Districts with Most Combined Candidate and Independent Spending

District	Candidates	Independent Committees	Total Spending
3	$3,190,688	$12,579,398	$15,770,086
11	$2,783,252	$ 1,116,713	$ 3,899,965

The numbers in this report should be considered preliminary. Numbers for candidates are taken from 11-day pre-election fundraising reports received by noon October 31, 2017. They reflect activity through October 27.

Numbers for independent committees are compiled from a combination of independent spending reports, 48-hour notices, political committee and political action committee reports filed through November 1, 2017.

Reports filed by legislative and gubernatorial candidates are available online on ELEC's website at www.elec.state.nj.us. A downloadable summary of data from legislative reports is available in both spreadsheet and PDF formats at <http://www.elec.state.nj.us/publicinformation/statistics.htm>.

Several, but not all, independent groups also file reports with ELEC. These reports can be searched at <http://www.elec.state.nj.us/ELECReport/SearchIndExp.aspx>. Some also disclose their activities in reports made public by the Internal Revenue Service at www.irs.gov/Charities-&-Non-Profits/Political-Organizations.
